

FRENCH REPORT ACCUSES GERMANS

Commission Says Kaiser's Troops Shot Wounded and Beat Prisoners to Death.

LAW OF WAR ARE VIOLATED

PARIS, Aug. 2.—The commission president over by George S. Payelle, president of the French court of accounts, has presented to Premier Viviani the final report of its investigation into acts on the part of German soldiers in violation of the rights of man.

This report contains 12,000 words and gives in detail the evidence gathered concerning the use by German troops of military and civilian prisoners as shields against the fire of French troops, as well as of the employment by the troops of Emperor William of cartridges in which the bullets were reversed, in order to cause more serious wounds; split bullets and other bullets cut to make them more deadly.

Order to Kill Wounded. Continuing, the report cites orders given by General Stenger, commander of the Fifty-eighth German brigade, directing his soldiers to kill the wounded enemy and to take no more prisoners. Evidence confirming the issuing and the execution of this order was obtained from German prisoners belonging to the 11th and 16th regiments. The report contains evidence of a massacre of French soldiers as a result of this order, as well as the massacre of wounded men after the battle of Feth in Belgium. It reports the allegations of many soldiers who declare they saw their wounded comrades put to death.

Prisoners Beaten to Death. The report devotes considerable space to allegations of the inhumanity of the Germans to their prisoners of war, which it says is proved by the evidence of the victims. Many prisoners of war have been shot, while the skulls of others were crushed by blows from the butt of a musket. At St. Die thirty French prisoners were assassinated in this manner by Bavarian troops. The truth of this is vouched for by five men who actually witnessed the executions.

SHIPPERS OF STOCK AND OFFICERS MEET

not only right but necessary that we should arrive at some uniformity of rules and regulations governing the growing, importation and exportation of live stock of the country between states and in states. At present we have an absolute uniformity of health certificates among the states involved and there is no reason why we should not have the same uniform system existing among stock growers and breeders of different states regarding the tubercular and cholera scare.

Some Needless Regulations. "We are willing to co-operate with the sanitary boards of other states in any matter that will eliminate such needless and unnecessary regulations as that," the Kansas man said. "I personally called two meetings in Kansas City, one in May and one in June, at which I invited representatives of the eleven stock growing states of the country. At that time only a few states were represented, but at the latter seven states had men on the job. The situation was discussed in the same informal manner as we are now discussing it, but we arrived at no definite plan or understanding. I had hoped that more states would be represented so that official action could be taken, which could later be followed by the sanitary boards of the other seven states."

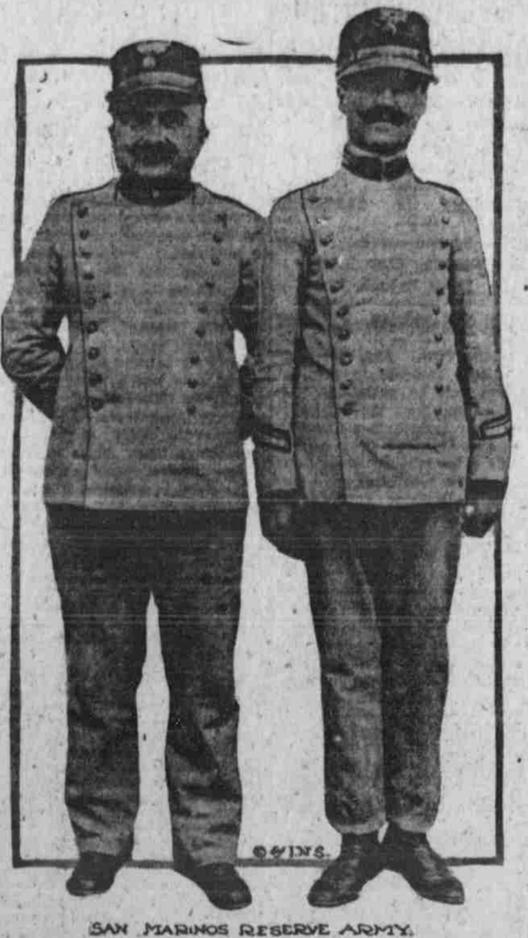

Dr. J. J. Gibson, president of the United States Live Stock association and also head of the Iowa State Sanitary board, in speaking of the interstate shipping rules, argued for the protection of the live stock of the various states, advocating a strict government regulation of tubercular and cholera serum. Citing several examples of shirking on the part of stock growers and farmers, he demanded, with some heat:

Tramps Make Trouble at Yankton

YANKTON, S. D., Aug. 2.—(Special.)—Hoboes are in the city in large numbers and giving a good deal of trouble to the officers. Charles Mallett, a coal heaver for the Milwaukee road, was accidentally shot in the head by a brakeman, who was trying to force hoboes away from a melon car. Mallett will recover. A harvest hand reported being robbed of $8. He told the police that he was only one of 50 men, like himself, harvest hands, who were held up here by four hoboes armed with guns, who went through a string of empty cars and held up every man found, securing, it is thought, a large amount altogether.

Fancy Packages Often Hold Food of Inferior Grades

Speaking of relative food values and increases in the price of food stuffs, Dr. S. J. Crumpline, secretary of the Kansas State Board of Health, today addressed a meeting at the Panama-Pacific exposition.

Dr. Crumpline first called attention to the inevitable increase in the price of food and in making a plea for food thrift, declared that the cheaper grades of fruit sometimes were more nutritive than the choicer grades.

"People should know," he said, "that the food value of fruit itself, outside of the syrup, is quite as high, if not actually higher, in the cheaper grades of fruit than it is in the fancy and higher priced fruit."

"It occurs to me that, at least in some instances, the marketing of often inferior grades of food in fancy containers, together with the use of brilliant labels, making the article appear extremely attractive, is bordering very closely on the prohibition in the law that foods must not be made to appear better than they really are. If the truth were known of the actual caloric value of many of the fancifully packaged foods on the market that are widely advertised as having exceptional nutritive merits, their sales would encounter a heavy slump."

"I noticed Cuticura Soap and Ointment advertised in the paper, and I sent for a free sample. I secured relief, and then purchased more. I applied them as stated in the directions, and after constant use for three weeks I was entirely relieved of my trouble." (Signed) Paul F. Kowalski, 230 3rd St., Detroit, Mich., Jan. 6, 1915.
